From HPMG Research Desk...

The Week That Was

May 26th to May 30th 2025.

Caution prevailed at Dalal Street for 2nd straight week and was the preferred theme than usual.

Volatility and choppiness were the hallmark for benchmark Nifty as sellers and buyers remained reluctant.

That brings us to our call of the week which suggests the tug-of-war is likely to continue with bears having the upper-hand in the near term and in the longer term, we are distinctly cautiously optimistic.

Nifty (-0.41%, 24751)
Sensex (-0.33%, 81451)

The tug-of-war intensified between the bulls and the bears as Nifty wavered wildly from sharp losses to positive territory before closing slightly lower on a weekly basis.

First, negative catalysts in the week gone by:

- 1) The uncertainty surrounding the US trade war persisted. (A US appeals court reinstated President Trump's global tariffs, overturning a prior federal court ruling that had deemed them unlawful).
- 2) Rising Covid-19 cases in India.
- 3) Technically overbought conditions for benchmark Nifty.
- 4) FIIs hit the pause button as they net sold in the week gone by to the tune of Rs. 418 crores).
- 5) The US downgrade after Moody's Ratings stripped the U.S. government of its last triple-A credit rating.

Now, here are some of the positive catalysts in the week gone by:

- 1) India's GDP growth rises to a four-quarter high of 7.4% in Q4FY25, full-year at 6.5%. (The positive takeaway is that India has remained the fastest-growing major economy for the fourth straight year, driven by strong manufacturing, services, and farm sector growth)
- 2) Improving leads from Wall Street after Nvidia's first-quarter earnings and revenue beat street estimates, driven by a 73% year-over-year surge in its data center business.
- 3) A record-high dividend payout by the RBI for FY25. (The Reserve Bank of India's record-breaking dividend of Rs 2.7 lakh crore for FY25 is set to significantly ease the government's fiscal position and bolster economic growth).
- 4) Cooling inflation in India and also in the US signals more rate cuts likely by the RBI & the Federal Reserve.
- 5) An "above-normal" monsoon forecast for 2025, with rainfall likely to be 105% of the long-period average.

Bottom-line: The possibility of both a melt-up or a melt-down is quite high. Expect the tug-of-war to continue with bears having upper hand.

The Week Ahead: RBI MPC outcome to be the key highlight of the week.

It's the start of a fresh week and also a fresh month at Dalal Street. With the Q4 earnings season in the rear view, focus turns to this week's RBI MPC outcome. The market is pricing in a 25bps cut, which will improve the outlook for rate-sensitive sectors. After April rate-cut, expectations have only been that there will likely be another rate cut in the June meeting as Indian economy races to beat Japan's.

Despite the improving inflation outlook, the RBI remains cautious. It flags downside risks to growth from uncertainty about global trade post-protectionist measures, protracted geopolitical tensions and global financial market volatility.

Alongwith domestic cues, the US Non-farm payrolls will be closely watched as well which are releasing on Friday, June 6th as well. The recently released US PCE figures saw a slight uptick in inflation. Apart from that, the latest released US FOMC minutes stated that Trump's trade tariffs have caused more inflation and unemployment problems than improved economic growth. In such a scenario, the non-farm payrolls again become a crucial data point to refer to.

Alongwith with the above key events, focus will also be on India's May GST Collection figures and Auto Sales figures as well.

Looking forward, we suspect, Nifty is likely to start on a cautious note in Monday's trade as trade tensions have again escalated between US and China.

President Trump has claimed China had "totally violated" its trade agreement with the US, fueling fears of a prolonged dispute.

Our call of the week suggests the trading theme for the next week favors bear as Nifty is vulnerable to profit-taking on any excessive strength from here-on. Also, lack of any clear positive trigger shall keep bulls at bay.

The street will continue to keep a close eye on rising corona virus cases in India.

Technically, aggressive long positions advised only above Nifty 25117 mark as Nifty has crossed 25000 five times in last eight sessions and most importantly, has failed to hold.

Long story short: Nifty bulls are likely to be reluctant.

The Nifty options data suggests Nifty is likely to be in a trading range of 23500-25500 zone. Maximum Call OI is at 26000 followed by 25000 strike prices. 25000 mark is now Nifty's major resistance zone on closing basis. Maximum Put open interest stands at 24000 levels followed by 24500 levels. Call writing was seen at 24800 and then at 24700 strike price, while there was meaningful Put writing at 24200 and then at 24300 strike prices.
